ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperion.

Probably the greatest success of last season was "In Old Kentucky," which comes to the Hyperion to-night. It enjoyed a remarkable run of seven months at the Academy of Music, New York, and was universally commended as one of the most meritorious plays produced in many years. The scenes include life-like representations of two distinct phases of Kentucky life, and the story is said to be absorbing in interest and pure and wholesome in tone. The scenic effects are fine. Sale of seats now open.

"The Rainmakers" will be produced by Donnelly and Girard Friday evening next. An exchange says: The cyclone scene in the second act is superb, and this week new electrical effects will be added to heighten the effect. When it is understood that Donnelly and Girard, in the guise of the sports in hard luck, do the rainmaking, without having any knowledge whatever of the explosives they have stolen from a genuine scientist, it will be generally understood that they mix things up in a way to get the most fun of the situation possible. Sale of seats now open.

New Haven theater-goers will have another opportunity on Saturday evening, February 6, to welcome Joseph Hewarth, who is to-day one of America's greatest actors. He has long been recognized as the most versatile actor on the stage. His successes have been many. His last, the greatest of all, that of Shakespeare's masterpiece, "Hamlet," which essayed for the first time last season and which the entire Boston press united in saying was the hit of the season and that no actor since Back had been compared with him in the role. Sale of seats opens Thursday.

Grand Opera House.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Doud Byron, with their excellent company, appeared to a large audience at the Grand Opera house last night. Mr. Byron as "Vivian Ransome" was seen at his best and clearly proved that he is one of the most virile actors now before the public. Mrs. Byron captured the audience by her fine personification of "Jane Judkins," by her rich brogue and exquisite acting. The supporting company is a good one and special mention should be made of Miss Florence Stone for the way in which she impersonated the bank's daughter. Spottiswoode Aitken, Fred Russell, Warren and J. L. Mason all lend their valuable aid to make the piece a success. There will be a matinee to-day and the engagement closes with the evening performance.

Charles H. Yale's great production, "The Devil's Auction," comes to the Grand the last three days this week.

A double stage set is introduced in "The New Boulevard" ballet, which is announced as the "fin de siècle" divertissement of Charles H. Yale's "Newest Devil's Auction." The "Boulevard" is a new idea in ballets, and is a combination of tableaux, vivants, pantomime and dancing. The tableau vivants are introduced on the elevated stage, while the pantomime and ballet appear on the stage proper. Two sets of scenery are used in this novelty, both painted by E. Castle Bart, the famous French scenic artist; formerly of the Eden theater, Paris. Matinee Saturday.

An entire new collection of natural history curiosities will be on exhibition in the lecture hall annex at the Grand Opera house this week. Don't miss seeing this, the hall is open free to the patrons of the theater.

Pol's Wonderland Theater.

Another fine show at the Wonderland this week. The Manhattan Comedy Four are exceedingly effective fun-makers, and the way they combine the sentimental and the comic in their songs reminds the hearer of the ever changing conditions of an April day. George K. Fortescue and Richard Gorman are royal entertainers also. Mr. Fortescue has been seen here so often in his famous role in "Evangeline" that most theater-goers know him; and yet, so versatile is he in his comedy creations and so richly original in all his fun-making, that persons see him again and again with as much interest as on the first occasion. The Martell family, Havens and Andrews, Miss Bland, Frank Burt, and Shayne and Worden, are all clever comedy artists whose fun is of the richest. The whole bill is excellent.

WALLINGFORD.

Frederick A. Rich of North Elm street died at 10:30 yesterday morning, after an illness of many months with heart trouble, aged seventy-eight years. The deceased was a much respected and lifelong resident of this town, and had for many years resided on North Elm street. He leaves ten children. A. F. Rich of Bristol Avenue, Edward Rich of Elm street, Mrs. W. N. Mix, Mrs. C. O. Norton, Mrs. W. I. Todd, Mrs. Edward Cotton, and Mrs. Nellie Rich, all of Wallingford; Mrs. H. W. Howe of New Haven, Mrs. Edward Harrington of Attleboro, Mass., and Miss Ida Rich, now a teacher in Chicopee, Mass. The funeral will be on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house, Rev. J. J. Blair will officiate. Burial in the "In Memoriam" cemetery. Mrs. Rich died less than a year ago.

Telegrams were received here yesterday from Seattle, Wash., announcing the death of Vesie Wilson with typhoid fever. He was formerly electrician, attending to the banjo signals on this division, and well known and had many friends here. He was a member of Accanaut lodge, I. O. O. F., and Ivy lodge, K. of P., and Ivy division, U. R. K. of P. He leaves a wife in Seattle, where the burial took place.

Monday evening's fire was the first that has visited Yaleville for many years. The last on record was that Patrick McNulty place on the turnpike, just north of the Quinnipiac river, and that was fully twenty years ago.

David Redfield, who has been living over Michaels & McKenzie's store that was burned in Yaleville, had his household goods, and a few minor articles were in the rooms at the time the fire broke out.

The H. L. Judd company's works are now running nine hours a day. Yesterday was the coldest day of the season, and the mercury ranged about 10 degrees above until evening, when it began to fall, and at 8 o'clock was only 6 above zero.

ERRONEOUS INDICTMENT.

Dr. Whitten Seems Not to Have Been Indicted—There Was a Mistake in Constructing Their Bill, So Says the Grand Jury. It has been discovered that Dr. George E. Whitten who, it was supposed, had been indicted by the grand jury for murder in the second degree in connection with Dr. Lee, is the victim of an error, and that no true bill was found against him. When the grand jury brought in the indictment against Dr. Lee for causing the death of Maggie Schloss in August, 1893, it was understood by the court that Dr. Whitten was also indicted for complicity in the affair. Dr. Whitten was then living in West Newton, Mass., and was extradited and arrested on a bench warrant. When the various members of the grand jury which had sat on the case heard of this they began to look the matter up and at the request of Dr. Whitten's counsel they have sent an affidavit to the superior court of this county, saying that although they did find a true bill against Dr. Lee there was no such bill found against Dr. Whitten and that if such presentment was made it was through an error. It is understood that it is the intention of ex-Judge Stoddard and his associate to ask a judge of the court to erase the case against Dr. Whitten from the docket or to take steps that will release him. It is said that the grand jurors have violated their oath in talking about the matter and complications may arise. The grand jury concerned was composed of the following men:

Theodore Platt (foreman), W. B. Brotherton, George A. Roberts, Charles F. Smith, John T. Barham, W. E. Pritchard, Arthur B. Harrison, Jacob Ambuhl, James F. Brannagan, Cornelius W. Munson, Henry Bradley, William M. Moffatt, William Bull, Dennis A. Kimberley, Charles W. Bradley, H. T. Holcomb, Horatio N. Lane, Robert Payne.

Dr. Whitten, who is now released under $10,000 bonds, was in the city yesterday conferring with his counsel in regard to the matter.
